Welcome to the July 2009 edition of the Radio HF Internet Newsletter. Sorry for being a little later than usual this month. A belated Happy Canada Day to our Canadian subscribers and a belated Happy Independence Day to our American friends.

We're definitely into the summer months now. Only two of you have submitted webpage links to me for the newsletter this month! As a result, I have had to do some serious digging to come up with some interesting material to include in the Newsletter this month. Remember that you can make my job that much easier each month by sharing a webpage or two that you enjoy and that you think might be of interest to our readers. As you see from the content each month, the subject matter is pretty much wide open. So please consider sending along a link or two for the next issue.

Now on to this month's edition. Our Monthly Special Zone features sites dealing with World Population Day, National Ice Cream Month and National Parks and Recreation Month.

Our virtual voyage around the world in the Where in the World Zone takes us north to Greenland. Greenland (Danish: Gronland; Kalaallisut: Kalaallit Nunaat, meaning "Land of the people" is an autonomous country within the Kingdom of Denmark located between the Arctic and Atlantic Oceans, east of the Canadian Arctic Archipelago. Though physiographically a part of the continent of North America, Greenland has been politically associated with Europe (specifically Denmark) since the 18th century. In 1979, Denmark granted home rule to Greenland, with a relationship known in Danish as Rigsfaellesskabet, and in 2008 Greenland voted to transfer more competencies to the local government.

Enjoy the summer but please take a moment or two to send along some of your favourite websites which you think our readers would enjoy visiting.

NATIONAL RECREATION AND PARKS MONTH

http://www.nrpa.org/content/default.aspx?documentId=2145

Since 1985, America has celebrated July as the nation's official Park and Recreation Month. Each July, recreation facilities and parks across the country kick-off summer programs, promote outdoor physical activities, and pull together community volunteers to make their outdoor space a better place for all. Due to the recession this year, many national parks are even offering free admission throughout the summer.

THE JULY ZONE

Each month we feature the monthly page from Wikipedia, the free, on-line encyclopedia. The page features an overview of the month, plus background and general information on the month itself. The actual monthly calendar, clickable day by day, gives a list of special events in history, famous birthdays, anniversaries, etc. for each day.

Broadcasting on the Short Waves, 1945 to Today - By Jerome S. Berg.
Shortwave broadcasting originated in the 1920s, when stations used the new technology to increase their range to serve foreign audiences and reach parts of their own country that could not easily be covered by regular AM stations. The early days of shortwave radio were covered in On the Short Waves, 19231945 which covered broadcast listening in the pioneer days of radio. This book picks up the story after World War II, focusing on the stations themselves and the environment in which they operated.

The heart of the book, "Shortwave Year-by-Year" is a detailed account of the shortwave bands in each year from 1945 to the present. It reviews what American listeners were hearing on the international and domestic shortwave bands, describes the arrivals and departures of stations, and recounts important shortwave events. It also introduces readers to the several categories of broadcastersinternational, domestic, religious, clandestine and pirateand to private shortwave broadcasting in the United States. It explains the impact of relay stations, frequency management, and jamming, and describes promising shortwave technologies. It also addresses the considerable changes in, and challenges to, shortwave broadcasting since the end of the Cold War. The book is richly illustrated and indexed, and features extensive notes to facilitate further reading or research. 2008 McFarland Publishing
Hard cover 488 pages.
